MAUSOLEUM DEDICATED FOUNDATION STONE LAID

Memories of President McKinley and Loved One

Impressive Event In History of the Episcopal Church.

HONORED BY THOUSANDS. BISHOP OF LONDON TALKS

President Roosevelt, the Orator of the Day, Praised His Predecessor as Not Only a Leader Among Men, but Also Their Helper.

He and President Roosevelt Deliver Addresses During the Ceremonies Incident to Inauguration of Erection of Cathedral at National Capital.

Canton, O., Sept. 30.—Over fifty special trains came here on Monday crowded with passengers to attend the unveiling of the mausoleum containing the bodies of the late President McKinley and wife. Fully 75,000 visitors were in the city. An immense concourse was at the depot to welcome President Roosevelt and party and great was cheering when the special pulled up at the platform.

The parade to Monument hill, where the mausoleum was erected, was an imposing officer and of considerable size. It was composed of civic and military organizations.

Beside the president, other distinguished guests were Vice President Fairbanks, several governors, a number of senators, Secretaries Wilson and Garfield and Surgeon General Rixey. The city was beautifully decorated.

Governor Harris of Ohio presided. He delivered an address, "The Star Spangled Banner," was then sung. Justice Day spoke on "The Building of the Memorial." Miss Helen McKinley, sister of the late chief executive, unveiled the bronze statue. James Whitcomb Riley read a poem.

President Roosevelt was orator of the day. During the course of his address the chief magistrate said:

"We have gathered together today to pay our meed of respect and affection to the memory of William McKinley, who as president won a place in the hearts of the American people such as but three or four of all the presidents of this country have ever won. He was of singular uprightness and purity of character, alike in public and in private life; a citizen who loved peace, he did his duty faithfully and well for four years of war when the honor of the nation called him to arms. As congressman, as governor of his state, and finally as president, he rose to the foremost place among our statesmen, reaching a position which would satisfy the keenest ambition. But he never lost that simple and thoughtful kindness toward every human being, great or small, lofty or humble, with whom he was brought in contact, which so endeared him to our people. He had to grapple with more serious and complex problems than any president since Lincoln, and yet, while meeting every demand of statesmanship, he continued to live a beautiful and touching family life, a life very healthy for this nation to see in its foremost citizen; and now the woman who walked in the shadow ever after his death, the wife to whom his loss was a calamity more crushing than it could be to any other human being, lies beside him here in the same sepulcher.

Mr. McKinley possessed to a very extraordinary degree the gift of uniting discordant forces and securing from them a harmonious action which told for good government. From purposes not merely diverse, but bitterly conflicting, he was able to secure healthful action for the good of the state. In both poise and judgment he rose to the level of the emergencies he had to meet as leader of the nation, and like all men with the root of true greatness in them he grew steadily to larger stature under the stress of heavy responsibilities. He was a good citizen and a brave soldier, a chief executive whose wisdom entitled him to the trust which he received throughout the nation. He was not only a leader of men, but preeminently a helper of men; for one of his most marked traits was the intensely human quality of his wide and deep sympathy. Finally, he not merely preached, he was, that most valuable of all citizens in a democracy like ours, a man who in the highest place served as an unconscious example to his people of the virtues that build and conserve alike our public life, and the foundation of all public life, the intimate life of the home.

Many lessons are taught us by his career, but none more valuable than the lesson of broad human sympathy for and among all of our citizens of all classes and creeds. No other president has ever more deserved to have his life characterized in Lincoln's words as being carried on "with malice toward none; with charity toward all." As a boy he worked hard with his hands; he entered the army as a private soldier; he knew poverty; he earned his own livelihood; and by his own exertions he finally rose to the position of a man of moderate means. Not merely was he in personal touch with farmer and town dweller, with capitalist and wageworker, but he felt an intimate understanding of each and therefore an intimate sympathy with each; and his consistent effort was to try to judge all by the same standard and to treat all with the same justice. Arrogance toward the weak, and envious hatred of those well off, were equally abhorrent to his just and gentle soul.

Severe and Peculiar Accident.

Coldwater, Okla., Sept. 30.—While hauling fence posts John Pettif met with a severe accident that may prove fatal. A post slipped off the load, catching the wagon wheel. The other end strayed Pettif, throwing him out, and two wheels passed over him, inflicting painful injuries.

Washington, Sept. 30.—Sunday witnessed two events here of general interest to the religious world at large and especially to the Episcopal church. The first and chief of these was the laying of the foundation stone of the cathedral of Sts. Peter and Paul at Mount St. Alban, Wisconsin avenue.

The other was the great open air service on the same grounds, under the auspices of the international convention of the Brotherhood of St. Andrew, which brought to a close the convention, which has been in session here for the past week. The cornerstone laying was under the guidance of the Episcopal church in America.

With befitting ceremony and solemnity the foundation stone of what promises to equal in point of architecture and outlay the most magnificent cathedrals in the world was laid at noon.

It was a notable occasion, made more so by the presence of the president of the United States and the bishop of London.

Among the distinguished people in the assemblage besides President Roosevelt and Bishop Ingram were J. Pierpont Morgan, Chief Justice Fuller of the United States supreme court, Associate Justice Brewer, Secretary of the Navy Metcalf, Secretary of the Interior Garfield, Admiral Rixey, President Finley of the Southern railway and President Needham of the George Washington university.

Among the prelates who took part in the exercises were the lord bishop of London, who delivered the salutation; Rt. Rev. C. F. Woodcock, bishop of Kentucky; Rt. Rev. T. J. Gallor, bishop of Tennessee, and the bishops of Virginia and Maryland.

The religious services proper began with prayer by Rev. Mr. Randolph McKim of the Church of the Epiphany. Then Bishop Satterlee performed the ceremony of laying the foundation stone. The trowel was the one used in laying the foundation stone of the capitol building and the gavel was used by George Washington.

The ceremony of laying the foundation stone completed, Bishop Satterlee introduced President Roosevelt, who spoke as follows:

"Bishop Satterlee and you, my friends and fellow countrymen, and you, our guests: I have to say but one word of greeting to you to-day and to wish you Godspeed in the work begun this noon. The salutation is to be delivered by our guest, the bishop of London, who has a right to speak to us because he has shown in his life that he treats high office as high office should alone be treated, either in church or state, and above all, in a democracy such as ours—simply as a chance to render service. If office is accepted by any man for its own sake and because of the honor or it is felt to confer, accepts it to his own harm and to the indefinite harm of those whom he ought to serve. Its sole value comes in the state, but above all its sole value comes in the church, if it is seized by the man who holds it as giving the chance to do yet more useful work for the people whom he serves.

"More and more we have grown to realize that the worth of the professions of the men of any creed must largely be determined by the conduct of the men making these professions; that conduct is the touchstone by which we must test their character and their services. It would be to our shame and discredit if we failed to recognize that evil, if we wrap ourselves in the mantle of a foolish optimism and failed to war with heart and strength against the evil. It would act equally to our discredit if we sank back in sullen pessimism and declined to strive for good because we feared the strength of evil.

"I thank you for giving me a chance to say this word of greeting to-day. Following the address of the president, the bishop of London delivered the salutation.

Turning towards the president the bishop thanked him for his presence "amidst his multitudinous duties." He also expressed his thanks for the "burning words of encouragement and inspiration of the president which," he said, "would send him back across the seas inspired for his work."

The bishop then referred to the Canterbury ambition, or pulpit, which he brought over as a gift to the cathedral.

"I come," he said, "as the successor of St. Augustine's champion, Milesius, to bring you from the old diocese of London, of which you one day were a part, a real message of love and God-speed."

"Continuing, he said: 'We tend for liberty. One of the most glorious sentences in the English history is that sentence in the great charter, 'The Church of England shall be free.' We stand for freedom of thought; freedom of study; freedom of historical inquiry; for an open Bible.'

A brick factory at Bryan would help mightily in solving the sidewalk problem.

Possibly those cocktails at that Indianapolis banquet were only the sickle feathers of a hantem rooster.

John H. Kirby declares he would rather see Texas go republican than to see Bryan elected president.

The latest suggestion for the solution of the Philippine question is to make the islands a penal colony for negro criminals.

At the close of the week of registration 1,342 students had been enrolled in the State University. This is an increase of 105 over last year.

If Governor Campbell and his friends would quit making a fuss about it the people of Texas would soon forget that he ever had opposition.

In addition to numerous other primacies it is announced that Texas is first in the number of windmills in use. But, alas! not in the number manufactured.

For half a century congress has had to make up by an appropriation for a deficiency in the postoffice department, but the picture post card is rapidly filling the void.

Ex-Senator Carmack has come out as a candidate for governor against Governor Patterson. People who never lived in Tennessee don't know anything about hot politics.

What Bryan needs is more of esprit de corps which animates the students of any up-to-date college. What sacrifices will they not make to win the pennant? This is the spirit of all the towns that are forging ahead.

A man has just died in Germany who was "absolute master of thirty-three languages." Of course he was unmarried, otherwise he would have found it impossible to master one tongue.

An exchange remarks that while the president's trip through the West will be "spectacular," he will not make a spectacle of himself. If he did it would be nothing new.

New Orleans asserts a prior right to the export business of Texas, but New Orleans isn't going to get it. Galveston has that little thing engaged, but she'll have to grow mightily if she continues to handle all of it.

That Dixie is the national air par excellence is now unquestionable. Last week there was no response from a New York audience when the band played Star Spangled Banner, but the roof was raised when the first notes of Dixie were heard.

The Beaumont Enterprise called attention to the fact that there is no bitter end to a cigar made of Texas tobacco. Nothing wonderful in that. A Texas cigar is like the life of a true Texan, full of delightful pungency and without bitter regrets.

Attorney General Davidson will go to New York to confer with the government attorneys who are prosecuting the suits against Standard Oil, and it is expected that not only will the Corsicana Refining Company be investigated, but the entire Texas oil field will be thoroughly exploited.

Somebody has said something about a newspaper being a manufacturer of ideas. Ideas are not manufactured; they are discovered, and new ideas are rarer than diamonds or rubies, and the discoverer of one is either a genius or a lucky fellow. A newspaper is not a factory; it is more like a repair shop where old ideas are worked over and repolished. But good newspapers, like the house wife in Burns' Collier's Saturday Night, can make "auld closes look a'maist as weel's the new."

State Press has known men in the Texas legislature from East Texas who were elected wholly on the ground that they were distinguished as "squirrel turners," and men in the legislature from North Texas who were elected because they walked all over the county during the campaign, and still others who were elected because they were newcomers and had no employment.—Galveston News.

And the Eagle has known at least one man elected to the legislature in West Texas because nobody else would have it.

ONE PRICE AND THAT THE LOWEST

DENIED AN OPPORTUNITY TO GET INSTRUCTION.

It is made obvious by the statement of President Harrington that the accommodations at the Agricultural and Mechanical College have become inadequate to the needs of this State. Dr. Harrington says twenty-four extra tents have been ordered and that one of the old buildings on the grounds has been converted into barracks, but even with this increased space some of those already here must be turned away, and it is entirely useless for any others to come or to make application.

The News regards the Agricultural and Mechanical College as one of the most useful institutions of this State. The farming industry is undergoing a rapid evolution all over the country, and the time is not far distant when the man who lacks the training given at the Agricultural and Mechanical College will be seriously handicapped in his efforts to make a living from the cultivation of the soil. It is a matter of the utmost importance, therefore, that those who desire that instruction, should have the opportunity to get it. Every dollar spent toward that end will yield a profit, nor shall we have to wait long for the returns.

That it should be necessary for any one seeking this instruction to live in tents is regrettable, to say the least of it. It does not speak well for those whose duty it is particularly to look after the institutional needs of the State. It is to be hoped the next Legislature will be less intent than was the last one on creating new offices, and that instead of giving politicians a salary lien on the State's revenues, it will divert more of the money to the purpose of affording opportunities to those who desire this kind of instruction.—Galveston News.

COLORED FARMERS' UNION.

The organization of the Colored Farmers' Union of Brazos County has been effected with the election of the following officers: Elias Mays, president; H. H. Hall secretary; George Tillery, treasurer.

A committee has been named to confer with the president of the white Farmers' Union respecting the work of the organization with a view to co-operation. The next meeting will be held Saturday, Oct. 19, according to call of the president.

ADDRESS FROM PRESIDENT NEILL.

Farmers' Union Purposes Briefly and Clearly Set Forth—A Timely Letter.

The Eagle takes pleasure in republishing below a letter from President Neill of the Texas Farmers' Union. The letter makes a clean, clear cut statement regarding the purposes of the Union, and our readers will profit by giving it careful consideration. The aim set forth to control the price of the products of the farm is one which of right belongs to the farmer, and the bringing about of such conditions will be the surest safeguard of the permanent prosperity of all of the people of Texas and of the South, of whatever vocation. Mr. Neill's letter is as follows:

Ft. Worth, Tex., Sept. 30, 1907. —I want the citizens of Texas to understand the Farmers' Union. I want the co-operation of every loyal and patriotic man, woman and child in this state regardless of their occupation or profession. For these reasons I offer this brief explanation of what we are trying to do, and earnestly ask that every one having the best interests of the State at heart line up with us.

We want to control the price of the products of the farm. There you have the sum and substance of the whole proposition.

Incidentally, ours is an educational and fraternal organization. We want to educate ourselves in the science of agriculture and in the business of farming. We believe that our demand that cotton be priced at the point of production instead of on the cotton exchanges of New York and Liverpool, to be a just and reasonable one, and we believe that with the co-operation of all honest Texans we can enforce that demand.

We do not intend to dabble in politics, but we will ask the enactment of laws for the protection of the best interests of all the people of Texas. We never have, and we never will, ask for laws giving us any special privileges, and we always have, and always will, oppose all laws that give special privileges to any class.

This is the first of the great farmers' organizations to take the whole people into its confidence and to ask the co-operation of all the people.

We do not propose to start stores, nor banks, nor factories, nor anything else as an organization. We do not propose to meddle with the business of other people. Some people have criticised us for maintaining an office for the purchase of supplies, but I will take this occasion to inform the public that at our last State meeting an amendment was ordered submitted to the members abolishing the office of Business Agent, thus clearly showing that the Farmers' Union intends to confine its efforts to the proper purposes of a farmers' organization, without in any way interfering with other lines of business. This amendment is sure to carry, as the farmers are intelligent, and sincere in their purpose of attending to their own business and allowing all other classes the same privilege.

We ask and earnestly hope that every loyal Texan will lend moral and material support to the farmers in their effort to hold cotton at a stable price. Cotton is worth 15 cents per pound, and if we stand pat, backed by the entire citizenship of Texas and the South, we will win the fight. Once won, the victory is to the South for all time to come. The prosperity that follows will be enjoyed not alone by the farmer, but by all the people.

D. J. NEILL,
Pres. Texas Farmers' Union.

WALKER'S FIVE AND TEN CENT STORE

The opening of Walker's Five and Ten Cent Store yesterday was a decided success in every sense of the term. Large crowds attended and were delighted with the display, and the sales were large. Pretty decorations of pot plants and cut flowers added to the attractiveness of the handsome interior and fruit punch was served to the visitors. The large plate glass show windows contained an elaborate display of five and ten cent goods in endless variety; likewise the counters and shelves on the interior, with a big assortment of higher priced articles, but all selling at remarkably low prices. The store is a distinct addition to Bryan's mercantile interest, and most accessibly located for shoppers. Its success is assured from the beginning.

CHICAGO'S CRIMES.

Veritable Wave of Woe Swept Over the City.

Chicago, Sept. 30.—Chicago appeared Sunday to have been seized by a veritable wave of crime and when the last reports of the day were in the police were confronted with two baffling murder mysteries, one murder and suicide and one killing in which the murderer fled and left his victim to die later at the Alexian brothers' hospital.

In addition there was an attack upon a white girl by a negro, the victim being six years of age.

As a result of the almost unparalleled criminal activity the police in every station of the city were given instructions to be unusually vigilant and to arrest all suspicious characters under the new vagrancy law. Following is a summary of Sunday's crimes:

Body of unidentified man taken from river; hands tied and clothing weighed with stones gives police new murder mystery to solve.

Body of Joseph Genisetti taken from lake at foot of Ewelfth street; police scent murder mystery and are investigating the death.

Ross C. Price murders wife because baby cries all night, then commits suicide.

John Goss struck on head with iron bar in quarrel, dies at the Alexian brothers' hospital; murderer escapes.

L. Hilda Anderson, latest victim of attack by negroes and fifth to be reported to police within ten days.

IRATE ITALIANS.

Most Riotous Demonstration In Cooper Union.

New York, Sept. 30.—Alleged Socialists Sunday made the most riotous demonstration ever seen in Cooper Union in a determined effort to break up a meeting of the Federation of Italian Societies, called to protest against the recent action of the Italian government against the clergy and the attacks to which Cardinal Merry del Val, papal secretary of state, had been subjected during the agitation. For twenty-five minutes the disturbers, who were all Italians, held the police at bay, and it was not until a police captain with reserves hurried to the meeting that order was restored. Nine men supposed to be the ring leaders were arrested.

"If you fellows want to protest against the pope," said Magistrate Crane in fining the men, "go hire a hall for yourselves. If you don't like the pope go back where you came from and tell him so."

When Dr. Lorenzo arose to open the meeting and state its purposes from the right side of the hall, a hundred young Italians jumped to their feet and yelled: "You're a liar!" and other startling words.

"Down the pope!" shouted others and the din became deafening. The police were helpless for a time and then some one telephoned for the reserves. When the latter arrived the clubbing began. The rioters fought and attempted to release arrested men until a police captain was forced to shout to his men to shoot if necessary.

MCKINLEY MEMORIAL.

Stands on an Eminence and Can Be Seen a Long Distance.

Canton, O., Sept. 30.—Upon the crest of Monument hill, two miles from the late president's residence, is the mausoleum containing the remains of William McKinley and his life companion. It was erected by the McKinley Memorial association and its entire cost, including surroundings, was about $525,000.

Half way up the main stairway is a bronze statue nine feet high representing President McKinley as he was photographed in the course of his speech at Buffalo less than thirty minutes before he received his death wound from an assassin, one reads: "This memorial was erected by contributions of more than a million men, women and children in the United States and many others in foreign lands."

From the first step of the approach to the monument, to the actual top of the structure is 163 feet 6 inches, the mausoleum itself being 98 feet 6 inches high above the summit of the mound. The top of the dome has an oculus 15 feet in diameter through which comes softened light which adds greatly to the beauty of the interior.

The mausoleum is 78 feet 9 inches in diameter. In the center of the floor beneath the dome stands the sarcophagi containing the bodies of the president and Mrs. McKinley; and in niches on the north side of the dome are the caskets containing those of the two daughters, Ida and Mary, who died in infancy.

Huge Doric columns are placed around the interior in such a manner as to appear half buried in the sides of the building. The floor is of mosaic, the marble having been brought from many states for the purpose.

LASSOED WILDCAT.

Daring Deed of Robert Perry, a Boy Fifteen Years Old.

San Angelo, Tex., Sept. 30.—On a recent visit to his father's ranch in the Pecos country Robert Perry of this city distinguished himself by lassoing a huge wildcat. The boy is only fifteen years of age and his dash and bravery in chasing and capturing the varmint is considered a feat of bravery equal to that of an experienced cowboy. He discovered the cat on the prairie and easily overtook it on a fleet-footed cow pony. The cat's neck was broken by the sudden jerk when the pony stopped.

By a passenger train running into an open switch at Bellaire, O., and colliding with a freight, eight persons were killed, four fatally injured and seventeen injured, some seriously.

SIXTEEN DOLLARS.

Next Two Quarters This Is the Confederate Per Capita.

Austin, Sept. 30.—The comptroller announced that the apportionment of Confederate pensions for the next two quarters would be $16 for each quarter. Two hundred and fifty thousand dollars is apportioned for the next six months. The increase is approximately 500, which makes the total about $500.

The railroad commission approved the application of the Wichita Falls and Northwestern railway to issue and register $248,000 first mortgage bonds on seventeen miles of road from Wichita Falls to the Oklahoma boundary.

SERIES OF MISHAPS.

One Man Loses His Life and Three Seriously Injured.

Berlin, Sept. 30.—One man was killed and three, including Robert Walthous, an American rider, seriously injured in a series of accidents on the Spandau bicycle track during the 100 Kilometer race. The pacemaker's tire burst, throwing the rider, who broke his right arm and suffered other injuries.

An ambulance attendant, who crossed the track with the intention of aiding the injured man, was instantly killed as the result of Walthous's pacemaker colliding with him.

G. Hoffman was thrown to the ground and caused Walthous to fall. Walthous sustained a concussion of the brain and his condition is serious. The pacemaker who collided with the ambulance man was seriously hurt.

TRAINS COLLIDE.

Two Persons Were Killed and Several Cars Destroyed by Fire.

Stanton, Mo., Sept. 30.—A south-bound Texas limited train on the Frisco road from St. Louis collided with a freight train near here.

The freight train was loaded with cattle and a large number of animals were crushed to death. Both locomotives were demolished. The freight was trying to make a siding at Anacanda on short time when the passenger dashed around the curve at full speed. Two persons were killed and one injured. Seven cars were consumed.

RAN INTO FREIGHT.

Several Members of "The Orchid" Theatrical Company Injured.

Cincinnati, Sept. 30.—A special passenger train from Cleveland on the Baltimore and Ohio road carrying members of "The Orchid" theatrical company, ran into the rear end of a freight here and as a result several members of the company were injured, but none seriously. Neither Eddie Foy nor Trixie Friganse were injured in any way.

SHOT FROM AMBUSH.

Man Robbed of Considerable Jewelry While He Was Bathing.

San Antonio, Sept. 30.—Constable Stevens was shot from ambush with a load of birdshot while searching for a horse thief in the brush in the western part of the city. His wound is serious, but not fatal.

Ford Huth was robbed of $500 in jewelry at the hot wells while bathing. The jewelry was missing when he went to the locker to get his valuables after the bath. Mr. Huth alleges.

Five Hundred on Strike.

New Orleans, Sept. 30.—About 500 longshoremen and teamsters went on strike here on the river front Monday when the crews of the Leyland line and Austro-American line steamers started towing cotton in the vessels. The strike was expected, the steamship agents having failed to make an agreement with the cotton crew men.

Broke Record.

Kansas City, Sept. 30.—Matt McGrath of the New York Athletic club broke the world's record for throwing the 16-pound hammer, held by Nicholson of Scotland, by hurling it 163 feet 3 inches. The former record was 164 feet.

Noted Religious Journalist Gone.

Louisville, Sept. 30.—F. B. Converse, editor of the Christian Observer, reputed to be the oldest religious newspaper man in the world, died of heart failure. Mr. Converse was seventy-one years old. He leaves a widow and four children.

Prominent Jap In Texas.

Galveston, Sept. 30.—Baron Kaishi, foreign secretary of commerce and labor for Japan, arrived here to look over Texas in the interest of his country.

Costly Sleep.

Dunkirk, N. Y., Sept. 30.—While Marlon Kranski slept some one stole $350 from his pillow.

Saloon Open Sunday.

San Antonio, Sept. 30.—Saloons, as usual, were open here Sunday.
